The Kennedy Space Center

If you have ever dreamt of experiencing how it is to go on a space journey you must visit one very special place in Florida: The John F. Kennedy Space Center. Less than one hour east of Orlando, the Kennedy Space Center is a must see for tourists. From this place the United States launched their first rocket to travel to the moon. This was in 1968. Even today all US space missions start from the Kennedy Space Center. The next launch will be on March 30th of 2014.

If you visit the Kennedy Space Center you can do a lot of interesting things. For example you can walk under the largest rocket ever made and you can meet a real astronaut.

A full day of excitement and fun only costs you 40$. It includes all shows, a bus tour, the meeting with an astronaut and 3d space movies.
